THE RESOURCES OF CANADA
Millions of Unoccupied Land in Saskatchewan Awaiting Cultivation.
(By George Broadley, Regina)

Canada's Timber Supplies
Canada has probably the largest supply of standing timber of any country in the world. There are thousands of families looking for places of residence and as a result of the paucity of accommodation families are being crowded in two and three room suites, entirely inconducive to their requirements; frequently at the expense of domestic decency; with the threat of being turned out into the cold world if they are so imprudent or inconsiderate as to have babies.

Canada's lakes, rivers and seas are teeming with fish, and thousands of her sons are worse fed and more ill provided for than their criminal and paupers. Canadian beef can hold its own with the world, both in quantity and quality, provided the same encouragement were given to her staple industry as is given to others less deserving and necessary. Yet thousands of Canadians, today find that while it is only three or four cents on the hoof, it has reached twenty-five cents per pound by the time it arrives at the butcher shop; half-dollar per pound by the time of its arrival in the city restaurant, and over the dollar a pound by the time it reaches its place on a C.P.R. or Canadian National Railway dining car.

VALUE OF AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH
In a paper presented before the Western Society of Agronomy at its recent meeting at the University of Alberta, Dean Haves of the Alberta College of Agriculture, called the attention to the work done during the past fifty years in developing a clover of sufficient hardiness to thrive under the climatic conditions of Alberta. After pointing out that seed from clover developed to meet these conditions was a 70th place in the open competition at the International Grain and Hay Show held at Chicago recently, he stated: "If a satisfactory clover has been found for Alberta, this one result alone would justify the establishment of a State Experiment Station."

Speaking again somewhat similar to Lord Lee, Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries of the British government, addressing a gathering of farmers in Leicester, he stated that "in importance and in trying to expose the errors of every sort and kind from every manufacturing country in the world. . . we have saved the farmers of this country at least twenty millions of money, and ten years of time, instead of letting them find out for themselves at the expense of their own pockets, which machinery was reliable and which was not."

These two illustrations from widely different fields give point to the claim of the agricultural expert that his

MAN GETS $1,250 FOR A SLIGHT TO FATHERHOOD
St. John, N.B., Jan. 23.—After deliberating six hours, the jury hearing the case of Knox vs. Smith et al., in the libel suit for $20,000 damages, charging defamation of character against men prominent in the affairs of St. John, returned a verdict of $1,250 and costs against P. G. Spencer, one of the defendants. The other nine defendants were freed by the jury's verdict from any responsibility in connection with the alleged slander.

The libel grows out of the publication in all the newspapers of St. John of a picture of the children of the plaintiff to the suit, which was used in an advertising campaign conducted by the Temperance Alliance prior to the plebiscite on July 10.

The children were advertised as belonging to a family that had been broken up because of strong drink, the father being set forth as an inebriate. Counsel for the plaintiff set forth

During his recent visit to the city of Regina, Dr. Michael Clark, M.P. for Red Deer, Alberta, drew attention to the fact that while in Great Britain the population averages 400 to the square mile, in Canada there are only two people to the same area. Counting upon this fact, Dr. Clark commented that with Canada's unbounded undeveloped resources she is experiencing breadlines and instituting soup kitchens; which are a serious reflection upon those in authority and an illustration of the blundering and muddling of our legislators.

Falling prices of farm produce has made agriculture, in many places and cases, so unprofitable that according to reliable authorities there has been approximately one million acres of land less cultivated in the province of Saskatchewan than during the previous year; with a prospect of further reductions of acreage during the present year.

In addition to the Legion of Jobless Men in the United States and Canada there is a famine in China and starvation in Europe. More than a million unemployed are reported from Great Britain and Premier Lloyd George's only solution of the problem, according to newspaper reports, is to ship the unemployed Britishers to the Dominions, which have each their own unemployed problem.

Then word comes from Ottawa that owing to the prevailing stringent financial conditions in the Australian commonwealth, cancellation of orders placed with Canadian overseas manufacturers has been freely exercised by Australian buyers. In some places endeavors have been made to regulate shipments.

Canada's Undeveloped Resources
That is one side of the case and the pessimistic one. But there is another and more optimistic one, the relation of which indicates the unnecessary nature of this distress and unemployment.

Side by side with the fact that we have soup kitchens and breadlines is the distressing fact that factories are filled with goods, store shelves are burdened with supplies which those who have produced them and need them cannot obtain. While millions of people are needing clothing word comes from New Zealand that two wool clips bought by the British government are still lying in the country and last year's crop can find no buyers at all.

While thousands of Canadians are on the point of freezing, according to the statements of scientists, the world abounds with coal sufficient to supply its demands for another 50,000 years. Practically the whole of the province of Alberta is built upon a foundation of coal; while in the province of Saskatchewan, in the district of Lampan, there is reported a supply of black diamonds equivalent to the best on the American continent.

Millions of Unoccupied Land
While millions of people are starving for bread, millions of acres of land in the western provinces are awaiting cultivation; including approximately eight millions of school lands in the province of Saskatchewan, which are still unused and capable of producing food for both man and beast.

While the Canadian people are paying exorbitant prices for manufacture of copper, imported from the United States, millions of dollars' worth of raw material are being exploited from our own country in the interests of American syndicates. It is reported that on one quarter of a section of land in the neighborhood of Le Pas, near the Hudson Bay, there is in sight $5,000,000 worth of copper ore; which is being exploited by the well-known copper kings, the Guggenheims.

Recently the newspapers reported that during the month of November more than $2,900 were paid into the office of the Dominion Land Titles Office, Edmonton, on oil claims in the Port Norman district, where another foreign monopoly is running a race with the world to secure further additions to their monopoly.

SCHOOL TAXATION

The following resolution passed by the city council of Medicine Hat was sympathetically received by the council and referred to the commissioners for decision regarding delegates:

Whereas the burden of taxation on city and town municipalities in Alberta has become unduly heavy; and whereas a considerable portion of this burden is for the maintenance and support of educational institutions;

And whereas there is no likelihood of the cost of maintenance of such institutions being reduced henceforward;

And whereas such institutions are provincial and national in their scope and importance, and to a considerable extent under the control and direction of the provincial government;

And whereas the burden of taxation now resting upon the property owners is discouraging to home-owning and community building, and any increase of such taxation cannot be supported without endangering a serious financial crisis to the municipalities affected;

And whereas the cost of maintaining such educational institutions should be more generally distributed;

And whereas the Association of Alberta School Trustees with convene in Calgary on February 2 and 3 to discuss matters of concern to school boards throughout the Province;

Now, be it resolved that the Council of the City of Medicine Hat that the time has come for definite and concerted action by all the municipalities and school boards of Alberta with a view to obtaining immediate relief from the present condition, and that this council co-operate with the councils and officials of the other cities and towns and school boards of the province in an endeavor to prevail upon the provincial government to afford relief either by bearing a fixed percentage of the cost of maintaining educational institutions in general or by assuming entirely both the capital and maintenance costs of all institutions giving instruction over and above Grade 8, and maintaining the same as provincial institutions.

And be it further resolved that this council appoint a delegate to attend with delegates from the councils of Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge, Med-

"NEURITIS" FOLLOWS THE FLU.

The epidemic of "flu" left in its train many weak hearts and aches "neurotic".

Mrs. I. Wilson, 65, of 112 St. N. St., Kingston, Ont., writes: "Over two years ago I was taken very ill with Spanish influenza, recovered by incubating the brain, high blood pressure and congestion of the brain, and I was left in a very weak state. My heart and nerves were so terribly affected that I was unable to do anything but lie in bed, and I would have weak, fainting spells sometimes twice a day. It really seemed to me my heart would stop beating. I could not sleep, but I grew so bad, day after day, they thought I could not get better. I had given up all hope of ever getting well, as I was failing very fast. It seemed to me I was a God-send when I looked in the paper and read about Milbura's Heart and Nerve Pills. I thought that there was a little hope here there was a spark of life left. I immediately took them and they were and I am now on my feet, and can only think that it is God who has given me this wonderful medicine. I would not have been able to do this without them."

THE CONCENTRATION OF WEALTH

The rapidly with which the control of the wealth of the United States is passing into the hands of a few families is shown in the statement of H. H. Kien, Deputy Commissioner of Accounts for New York City, that 200 families in the republic control $15,000,000,000. There are, says Kien, fifty families who control over $100,000,000 each; 100 families which control over $50,000,000 each, and 100 families which control over $10,000,000 each.

Just how far the war has helped to enrich these families is not reported, but probably it has, to say the least, lessened the tendency to this concentration of wealth. That the tendency is straight with grave danger to the public will be recognized by all, and it is strange to the credit of humanity that its tremendous possibilities for evil have not been utilized to the degree where they would be productive of genuine anti-wealth. That this concentration of wealth in the hands of a few is an evil is not doubted, but the cure for it is not clear. The concentration of the greater part of these enormous fortunes at the owner's death has been mooted, and to a certain extent practiced, but not yet to the point where the amount of such fortunes becomes definitely limited to a million or half a million dollars. And the income tax seems to have done little to reduce this, as the average taxpayer that it is. The ideal, of course, is to divide the national wealth more equitably among the nation's workers, but the difficulty is to make it remain so divided—Christian Gardner.

Calgary, Jan. 27.—A convention of the Medicine Hat U.F.A. district association will be held in Medicine Hat on March 21 for the purpose of nominating a candidate in the forthcoming federal election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. A. L. Sitton. Delegates from every local in the constituency are expected to attend.

The annual convention of the Alberta Agricultural Fair Association will be held in the city of Calgary on February 10th and 11th. The annual convention of the Dominion's Association of Alberta will be held in Calgary at the same time.

All debts payable by Canadian firms to German and other enemy firms during the war, which were payable for that cause, are to be collected through the Canadian government netting with the British government, and they will be paid at the full par value rate of the German mark, its respective of its present value.

TO PREVENT AND FIGHT PNEUMONIA

(By Franklin C. Wells, M.D.)

This is the pneumonia time of the year—look out for it. There is much that you can do to prevent it, and to attack you—and to fight it if it does attack you.

Pneumonia means an "inflammation of the lungs," and nearly all cases are caused by a germ—usually flying about in the air, and known as the "pneumococcus."

It doesn't make much difference what name you call it by—it is a bad citizen—very dangerous, and should be fought in every possible way. There are two ways of combating this dread disease—

First—By keeping it out of the body. This is the best way.

Do not go near one sick with the disease unless absolutely necessary, and then use great care.

Always wash your hands most thoroughly before eating.

As the germs lodge in the nose-throat and mouth—great care should be used not to allow them to get into the air—by coughing or sneezing.

Never spit on the floor—the dust spreads them, as they are not killed by dryness.

Never cough or sneeze—without using a cloth or handkerchief—remember the other fellow and be a "safe man."

Get this habit of carefulness. A careful habit is the best body armor—and if you practice safety and cleanliness—others will follow you.

Second—The next way of fighting the disease is to put up a strong resistance to the intruder—if one gets into your body.

Keep yourself constantly in fighting trim.

Your safety will depend on this. Keep the skin clean and healthy—by bathing morning and night.

Avoid bodily fatigue and bodily depression—this predisposes to the trouble.

Try not to expose the body to great extremes of heat or cold—or going suddenly into the cold air when excessively heated. This weakens the system.

Keep the feet dry and warm. Try to be very regular in eating.

Avoid alcoholic liquors—this lessens your resistance to pneumonia—paralyzes the white blood corpuscles—the policemen of the blood—and makes you an "easy mark."

If you have a Assistant or helper and fever—do not come at once to bed and fever—go home at once to bed and call your doctor.

Live in the fresh air—morning, noon and all day long. Do not be afraid of pure air—it won't hurt you. Try to keep well—in fighting trim—not only to resist pneumonia but every sort of disease that may come.

Your wages, depend upon your production—your production upon your efficiency—and your efficiency upon your health.

HAT TO GET

HATFIELD RAIN

Medicine Hat, Jan. 31.—Rainmaker Hatfield is coming to Medicine Hat, to show his rain-making machine in this part of the country are not looking for any protracted dry spell during the growing season.

Under an agreement just signed with the United Agricultural association that body is to pay Hatfield $8,000 for four inches of rain spread over a two hundred mile circle with Medicine Hat as a centre. This is the maximum consideration of the contract and no charges are to be made for any rainfall in excess of four inches.

The main rain making plant will be situated at Chipmunk lake, about 20 miles west of Medicine Hat, and it is his intention to use the contract that Hatfield will get credit for one-half of the precipitation that falls between May 1 and August 1 through the efforts of his operations on the atmosphere. All propositions will be made in advance and a standard rain gauge will be installed at his place of operations with two others in various portions of the district.

If the operations are successful there will be one hundred per cent more rain and more the natural rainfall. The farmers in general are highly excited over the prospects, and it is said that on the strength of Hatfield's operations a considerable number of new settlers from the United States will locate in this vicinity.

WETASK. SEED FAIR

ales of improved varieties of seed were sent to farmers in various parts of the province, who grow seed under field conditions. From the reports of the various co-operators throughout the province, the suitability of a variety for any district could be fairly accurately judged.

Seed centres had also been organized throughout the province for the production of registered seed. Seven of such centres, Prof. Fryer said, had already been organized, and several more would be organized before the winter is over. Pure seed was sold to the members of these seed centres by the university, and is the fall the seed was inspected by an officer of the department of field husbandry and had the standing of registered seed.

Mr. Hutton urged the necessity of greater care in cleaning seed, if the tinning mill was used as much as it should be, profits would be greater and the majority of farms would be much cleaner. An experimenter had been conducted at Lacombe to determine the value of careful fanning, and it was found that the difference in yield between seed that had been just "run through" the fanning mill and seed properly cleaned was several bushels per acre.

For the information of the many who have been importing Manager Wilson to secure a return engagement of the popular Dumb Bell Concert Party, he publishes the following letter from the manager of the Dumb Bells:

"Dear Mr. Wilson: "It will be impossible to play Dumb Bells in your town this season, as we are already booked up ahead until next July. Hoping we may be able to give you a date at that time, I am Yours very truly,

"M. W. Plunkett," "Mrs. Dumb Bells."

In spite of this intimation, however, Mr. Wilson is still hoping that it may be possible to secure a return engagement before the time mentioned.

The Times can handle your order for counter check books—quickly and Minister economically.

MILLET

Boost your town and have a—Rest Room.

Buy a button every man; If you don't, you'll surely rue it. Help the women all you can.

They are working late and early. Working hard to help the town. To provide a place of comfort; May success their efforts crown.

The Young People's Society are now rehearsing the play "The Village Doctor" and hope to present same in a few weeks. They are also holding a pie social on Monday, Feb. 7th, at the Methodist church. Ladies bring pies.

Basket ball game Friday, Feb. 4th, Millet vs. Alberta College, to be followed by a community dance.

The ladies of Millet have organized a basket ball team. The first exhibition match will be announced next week.

Last Tuesday evening one wagon load and three car loads of Milletites journeyed out to West Liberty to hear the great debate, "Money vs. Love." The affirmative was by just half a point. The school house at West Liberty was packed to suffocation and it makes you wonder where all the people came from. It would take up too much space to say how eloquent the speakers were. Mr. Mantell and Miss Phillips were for the affirmative and Mr. Barnes and Mrs. Droughton for the negative. Everyone had a most enjoyable evening and Millet will take another trip out on Thursday when West Liberty have another social club night. We have forgotten the name of the club. It sounds very much like "Delicatessen." Are we right? We are wondering if when a certain gentleman reads this he will hang his fist on the table and say "Can you beat it?"

The stork has just left a bouncing baby at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perlick. Papa Perlick is now learning a new song entitled "Go to sleep, my Little Pickaninny."

When is West Liberty to have a mayor? The day this happens the flag will no doubt be displayed on the flagstaff of West Liberty school.

"Do the Farmers Need Organization?" will be discussed soon at Pliny's Hall. This debate should bring the farmers from all over the district. Date will be announced later.

Do farmers need organization? Does a fish need water?

P. White shipped a car of milk cows to Edmonton Friday.

Fred Higginson carried away high honors with his chickens at the Edmonton poultry show, taking thirty prizes with forty birds. Not bad, Freddy.

Fred did not turn up at the minstrel show practices on Thursday night. We understand he was after more chickens.

Frankie Pouche, a well known art entertainer, will appear at the Methodist church on Monday, Feb. 7, under the auspices of the Young People's Society. Mr. Pouche comes highly recommended, his entertainment being instructive and amusing. If you want a good laugh, don't miss seeing Pouche next Monday.

The U.F.A. held a big meeting at Pliny's Hall on Saturday. Quite a turnout.

The much advertised Board of Trade Old Fashioned Hard Times Dance took place on Friday night. Long before the doors of the hall were opened the crowd began to gather.

They came in wagons, cutters, cars and by train. Never before has Millet seen such a crowd at a dance.

The costumes were of such hard times that it looked like a remnant of the holocaust. Much fun was caused by finding anyone who had a decent suit on.

One party kicked because he was fined five, but on making an appeal was let off on paying five on account of the hard times. Gus Wagner was Judge and George Parker and Fred Thompson were the policemen.

The policemen were well matched. Before the evening was out they were known as Matt and Jeff. Mrs. Charles Moon was awarded the lady of the night for the most original costume. Mr. James received the gent's prize, and Mr. and Miss James carried off the prizes for the best wearing couple. The judges were Mrs. Herman Arnold, Mr. Fred Paey and Mr. George Parfait.

The Ladies' Institute served a most enjoyable supper, and they wish to take this opportunity to thank all the ladies who so generously donated the cake, pies and sandwiches, and also those who gave their services. The Institute is working hard to collect every dollar they can to help along the flax room, and all money taken for the supper is to be applied to this worthy cause. It is up to all to help them.

The Rest Room Button will be on sale in a few days and can be purchased from any member of the Ladies' Institute.

English church service Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

The Millet school dramatic club will hold a basket social at the Millet school Saturday evening, February 8. Board of Trade meeting at Mitchell's office, Thursday. All members are requested to turn out. Important business.

Miss Marjorie West came all the way from Chipman to the Hard Times Dance.

MILLET U.F.A.

A grand entertainment, basket social and dance will be held in Pliny's Hall, Millet, on Monday, Feb. 14th, at 8:30 p.m., under the auspices of the U.F.A. A fine program has been prepared and a good time is assured for all. Everybody welcome. Ladies are particularly requested to bring baskets. Admission free.

MILLET WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The W.I. wish to thank all the ladies of Millet and community who so generously donated cake, etc., toward the lunch served at the Hard Times dance. Next meeting of the Millet W.I. will be held on Feb. 9th at the home of Mrs. H. E. Harkness. Ladies are expected to be there at 12:30 to spend a social hour before the meeting, which begins at 2 o'clock.

ANGUS RIDGE

A Sunday School was organized at Angus Ridge on Sunday last by W. C. Elliott of the Church of the Nazarene. Mr. Elliott is the superintendent and Mrs. E. W. Wilson the secretary.

GWYNNE

Mrs. A. P. Moan is visiting under the parental roof.

Mrs. Earl Cole spent last week with relatives in Hiltner Lake.

The Sun Shine party was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Shantz on Friday evening. In spite of the weather, a good crowd gathered and spent the evening. The next party will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Denton on Friday, Feb. 11.

COMMUNICATION

(We do not necessarily endorse the sentiments advanced by this, or any other correspondent under this heading.—Ed.)

Editor, The Times, Wetaskiwin, Alta.

Dear Sir:

In reply to the query in last week's correspondence, for Mulhurst Jas. W. Detterer's name appears in the list as a candidate for councilman for Div. 6 of the M.D. of Bigstone 425, and when interviewed he said that the only thing that might induce him to enter the race was that it worried him very much to think that if the other fellow got elected he might forget there has been a hay trail surveyed from Bonnie Glen in a northwesterly direction to the town line between township 47 and 48, and he might forget to complete it next summer. Of course if the other fellow is elected he may find a good excuse after viewing the two extreme points of our municipal condition, a subject which is quite evident at present. Some have enjoyed the one extreme; they have got their money, but there does not seem to be any enjoyment in the other extreme. Haven't got mine, and no money to get.

JAS. W. DETTERER,

Mulhurst, Alta.

The United Farmers of Manitoba definitely entered the field of provincial politics when the annual convention passed a resolution favoring provincial political action and authorizing organization and preliminary steps to the drawing up of a platform.

—IMPOSSIBLE WITHOUT GOOD EYEGLASS

Eye strains are the cause of nervous disorders headaches and insomnia.

Most people are unaware of their eye troubles. Scientists estimate that seven out of ten people really need glasses. Are you sure you're not one of the seven?

Let me prove to your satisfaction that you either need glasses or don't.

Don't be afraid of your appearance, think of your eyes. I can improve your appearance with glasses.

Children's Coughs QUICKLY RELIEVED.

It is hard to keep the children from catching cold. They will run out of doors not properly wrapped, or have too much clothing on and get overheated and cool off too suddenly, they get their feet wet, kick off the clothes at night.

The mother cannot watch them all the time so what is she going to do?

Mothers must never neglect her children's coughs or colds, but must look for a remedy on the first signs.

A great many mothers are now giving their children Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, as it is so pleasant and nice for them to take, and relieves the cough or cold in a very short time.

Mrs. S. Crowe, R.R. No. 5, Truro, N.S., writes: "Two years ago my little boy caught a severe cold which left him with a very bad cough. He could not rest at night, and became very thin and weak. The physician on duty in Manitoba, wrote me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I went right to town and purchased two bottles, and before they were used my boy's cough had disappeared, and he became strong and well again."

We always know what to use now for coughs and colds.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 25c. and 50c. a bottle at all dealers.

VICTORIA AND VANCOUVER ISLAND WHERE GRASS IS ALWAYS GREEN AND GOLFERS PLAY AT CHRISTMAS

Vancouver Island folk pick roses in the garden when the Christmas bells are ringing, and the yuletide is over off the game, so far as being able to play is concerned, because there is no snow, and the grass is green and put almost every day in the year. In the fall and during the winter the grass is rich and green, and bloom is perpetual. This is due to the warming influence of the Japan current, which is the Gulf Stream of the Pacific Ocean. Vancouver Island was named after Captain George Vancouver, of the British Navy, who discovered it in 1792, and has an estimated area of 15,000 square miles. Its trees, among them the stately Douglas fir, which towers 300 feet above the roads over which the traveler glides by automobile, or by the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, which runs northward through half the length of the island, are magnificent beyond description, some of them being 6 or 7 feet in diameter. YOUR GROCER IS NOT A PROFITEER

Have a heart!
Your grocer is not a profiteer. He is passing along to you reduced prices, as fast or faster, than they come to him. Just because prices on many good things are still high, don't blame him. It is usually the poorest quality of everything that shows the greatest decline.

If he is as good a man as the average, your grocer is still doing his utmost to give you the best value for your money. But don't push him too hard. He is only human.

You don't know, but we do, that he is recommending goods that pay him less profit than other well known brands which he might easily persuade his customers to take if he cared to do so.

We know this because he pays us more for Red Rose Tea and sells it at less profit than other teas, so when he recommends you to buy Red Rose Tea you will know it is because he believes it the best and is willing to take a little less profit for the sake of giving you the best value he can.

We are publishing this because we believe that the more our people know of the true facts concerning the profits made by those they deal with, the more generous they will be in their judgments.—T. H. Eastbrooks Co., Ltd., Calgary, Alta.

THE MERRY-GO-ROUND

A bushel of wheat grown on an Alberta farm and sold in Calgary was traced back to the man who raised it after it had been made into flour. The wheat was sold to a commission firm, then to an elevator company, and later to millers who made it into flour. The flour was sold to a merchant, and when the farmer had bought his wheat back in the shape of flour he had paid commission and profit to half a dozen people and transportation charges to several railroad companies.

ARRANGEMENTS NOW COMPLETE FOR "WEED SPECIAL"

Arrangements have now been completed for the itinerary of the weed special that is to be run over southern Alberta railway lines for two weeks in February and March. The schedule of places and dates prepared by the department of agriculture gives the start at Irvine on Medicine Hat on February 21, and two points will be touched each day thereafter, concluding March 5.

The team of speakers accompanying the train, which is to feature on weed and grasshopper prevention, will include H. A. Craig, Dean Howes, Prof. G. H. Carter and J. D. Smith, from Edmonton, and a representative from the Saskatchewan and Manitoba governments. W. H. Fairfield of the Lethbridge experimental farm, James Murray of the Noble Foundation, and Don Bark of the C.P.R. will also accompany the party.

The train will be supplied free of charge by the Canadian Pacific Railway for its run across Alberta as well as Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Each of the governments will pay for the sleeping accommodation and meals of its speakers while on the tour. It is Kidneys Troubled Her.

BACK ACHE SO BAD
COULD NOT SLEEP.

The "kidney" of "Ella" has a great deal to be responsible for, in the every case it has left her after efforts, and in a great many cases it is the kidneys that have suffered.

When the kidneys have been left in a weakened state, very often some serious kidney trouble will follow if not attended to. Doan's Kidney Pills will provide to be just the remedy you require to strengthen.

Miss Florence Barnhart, Appleton, Ont., writes: "Last winter, after I had the flu, I was troubled with my kidneys. My back ached so I could not sleep, and my ankles were so swollen I could not walk. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, and before I had the first one taken I felt a change. I cannot recommend your medicine enough."

Be sure and get Doan's Kidney Pills when you ask for them. An honest drug store will lead the trade mark price tag. A box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millers Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ROBERTSON PLANS TO FIRE 100,000 WOMEN EMPLOYEES

London, Jan. 27.—England is preparing to clean house in a big economic campaign. It will clear the employment rolls of the ministers of food, shipping, munitions and transport. All the products of the war which have been receiving assistance from the government, are to be put back on a pedestal. Much of the equipment of the war plants will be scrapped, and the employees will be let go.

"Fire 'em out," says Sir Rufus Robertson, head marshal of the more than one hundred thousand women still employed in the government offices.

Sir William says he has nothing against the women, except it is unjust to employ single women when there are over two hundred thousand former service men without jobs.

BUSY MEN

Some of us are fit to be speakers and we make the world round, feding on the "lousier shirkers" who may argue and expound; and our grace you'll be allowing when we come before you bowing—but the farmer with his plowing makes the old world's wheels go round. Some of us are famous fighters with our guns and butcher knives; and a lot of us as writers buy the fender for our wives, often on the stage as playing, through the lines of "Hamlet" straying—but the farmer with his saying is the man who saves our lives. Some have all the lives devoted to the well known public weal, and in Commons, silver-throated, you may hear them admit; and they have our admiration, our applause and adulation—but the farmer saves the nation, when he feeds the calves their meal. Some are pointing gorgeous pictures destined to a deathless fame, and despite the critic's strictures, they will get there just the same; some are preaching pious morals, some are gaining salary for their pulpit, but for the farmer, or his claysman, play the game. And the farmer isn't yawning as he goes his dusty way, and we do not see him stopping, reeling for a sick day when the next day is breaking, he goes bravely to his raking, and his honest bones are aching when at night he hits "the hay"—Wall Mason.

COOKING WATER

(By C. A. Stephens)

As Mr. Wright, the teacher at our district school in Maine, sat at his desk, sipping coffee in the writing hours, one of the large boys in the class, who was a Rufus, came and threw a red-ankle acorn. It hit the master squarely on the top of his head. Naturally Mr. Wright was angry, and thinking that he had caught a glimpse of Rufus' arm in motion, he called him out.

"Give me your hand," he said, and taking up his ruler he began to flog him so severely that Rufus finally jerked his hand away.

Thompson Mr. Wright asked Rufus by the collar, but in the scuffle that ensued the master slipped, fell and struck his forehead against the stove. The bad rubs and burns that he laid him up and closed the school for a week. The boy who threw the acorn was too much of a sneak to own up.

On recovering Mr. Wright summoned the committee, and had Rufus Cummings expelled from the school. And that was not all. When Rufus brought his books home that night his stepfather, a stern, harsh man, gave him a severe horse-whipping.

As a result of it all Rufus ran away from home the following evening. Of course he ought not to have done it but many things had been leading up to it, and he had not had fair play. Two days later he was seen peeping into the window of the school. He thought they would not find out about him so that he had shipped as a sailor on a bark, lumber laden, bound round Cape Horn for Valparaiso.

That was twenty-five years ago. When one day or two ago I saw the name of Rufus Gals Cummings mentioned in a Melbourne, Australia, newspaper as a candidate for a high office at Perth, it occurred to me that since Gals is an unusual name, the man might possibly be our long-lost Rufus; and I wrote a letter to this Rufus Cummings.

Three months passed, and then in the letter I received a long and interestingly interesting narrative for sure enough it was our long-lost Rufus; and he had recently been elected to the office for which his name had been proposed.

He began by telling how glad he was to hear from his old home in Maine. He had never written because he had been under a cloud, and he doubted if anyone cared to hear from him. From Valparaiso he had gone on a whaler to the Australian whaling grounds. It happened that the vessel put in at the mouth of the Swan river, near Perth, for water and fresh food at the time of the gold rush to the Coolangie region in the desert. At that time all the sailors on the whaler deserted; and at last the captain laid his vessel up and joined the gold seekers instead.

Now in his eighteenth year, set off with the others. On the way he fell in with a prospector named Bassett, an Englishman, who gave him the means to return for the boys' leading the two camels that carried Bassett's mining outfit.

Since the only water in the desert was that of the shallow salt water pools, which had to be distilled before it could be used, a part of the outfit consisted of a large sheet-iron furnace and caldron for concentrating the salt water into copper pipes, a cooling pan and a tank.

It was in January, which is a summer month in that southern part of the world, and the temperature was only rarely very high by noon; yet so chilling was the desert wind at night that the men had to burrow in the sand to keep warm. On the fourth day out Bassett got up his condensed on the shore of a salt lake where a grove of old dead gum trees offered fuel for the furnace; during that night he and Rufus distilled thirty gallons of water, most of which the camels drank.

Attracted by the sight of the furnace and the caldron, a party of thirty animals came to Bassett's camp and offered him assistance a quart, and even a shilling a quart for water. The men were so probably that Bassett decided to remain at the lake for a few days distilling water and selling it to those who had not brought their own. It was a fine trade, for the camels' milk was in great demand, and the camels were in great demand, and the camels were in great demand.

During the second day that they cooked water, as they called it, a tragedy occurred that left Bassett alone at the furnace. At night three prospectors came to Rufus' camp and begged for water. Bassett offered them water at a shilling a quart, but they loudly declared that the price was excessive. While they were angrily disputing the thirty camel came and thrust its head into the tank and began to drink.

Bassett ordered them to take the water away, and when the camels refused to do so, Bassett, who was a harsh, passionate man, rushed to his tent and snatching up a carbine, shot the camel that was drinking from the tank. The shot was fatal, and the camel died. Bassett, a heavy blow over the head with a pick. When Rufus, who had been out at the lake, came back, he found the camels drinking from the tank, and that afternoon he buried them.

The three strangers could not be taken to Bassett's camp, and as they proceeded on their way one of them, a native, died. If he valued his life, he had better say nothing of what had happened.

While Rufus stood there bewildered and not a light breeze stirred his Englishman on their way to the mine with brumby ponies and an outfit came round the lake shore and asked for water. They were so thirsty that they begged Rufus to describe Bassett's murderer, made note of the facts and told the boy that if they could, they would certainly see that the men were brought to justice.

While Rufus was rekindling the fire to condense more water the new comers, who were prospectors of the better class, hurried Bassett in the wilderness, and one of them read the service over the grave. They also buried the camel. When Rufus had distilled enough water for their ponies, the three men came back and gave him sixpence a quart for it.

"You better go on cooking water," one of them said to him at parting. "water is the thing we need most here."

The dead gum trees made excellent dry fuel and thirty of the old desert trees, some of them almost six feet in diameter, stood along the lake shore. They were so large that they were a great help to the prospectors demanding water came up so frequently that Rufus had to work almost all night and day to keep up the supply.

As a rule the prospectors cheerfully paid the price that the young Englishman had set.

On several occasions some of the travelers of the rougher sort, guessing that Rufus had saved money, tried to rob him and ransacked his tent, but Rufus had hidden his money in the heart of a tree, and he was able to escape with his money and his camels.

One of the old desert trees at a distance from the tent, and in a large hole in the old tree, he hid his money. When he suspected foul play he ran thither and stood the would-be robbers off. Once out of spite some rough fellows, who were prospectors, tried to rob him, but he was able to escape with his money and his camels.

When the supplies that Bassett had brought from Perth gave out, Rufus supplied his need by exchanging water for canned meats, hard biscuits, coffee and sugar with parties on the way to the mine.

Rufus was at the salt lake in the desert for thirty-two months. They called the place Curralpy, and so Rufus called it. He was so busy that he had no time to rest, and he was so busy that he had no time to rest.

Very often the demand for water was greater than Rufus could supply, and he was always a hard task to clean the daily accumulations of salt and alkali from the caldron and pipes. At last he had a pipe out over the lake to the salt lake and poured water into the caldron instead of carrying it in buckets.

The really hard work was cutting and felling wood for the fire. It seems almost incredible but Rufus asserts that during the time he was cooking water he cut more than a hundred and fifty cords of wood.

It was a hard task for a young fellow, even though he was accustomed from boyhood to playing the axe.

He estimated that during the thirty-two months he was in the desert he cut a total of about thirty cords of wood, and he was so busy that he had no time to rest, and he was so busy that he had no time to rest.

An old prospector had left Rufus alone in the desert, and Rufus was so busy that he had no time to rest, and he was so busy that he had no time to rest.

A Scotchman named McNeil, on his way back to Perth from the mine came to the place one night, and he was so busy that he had no time to rest, and he was so busy that he had no time to rest.

his hidden board or to mix in a quarrel of which he knew nothing. At the break, when all seemed quiet at the camp, he went back. There, to his horror, he found McNeil and another white man of rough appearance lying dead; the blacks had apparently fed on them. From what came out later it seems that a miner who had had a quarrel with McNeil at the mine, had thought of attacking him, but McNeil, though mortally wounded, had been able to shoot his assailant.

Rufus thus found himself "there up" by the bodies of the two dead men, and that afternoon he buried them.

McNeil's saddlebags Rufus found two buckskin sacks that contained a large amount of loose gold. The Scotchman had evidently done well at the diggings, and was on his way home. Rufus judged that the two dead men weighed fully sixty pounds, and he was at a loss to know what to do with them, for he feared that other members of the dead man might appear. He buried the bodies of the two dead men, and passed the night at his refuge in the old gum.

On the day after his arrival at the mine, he weighed on his scale a portion of the gold he had found. He did not mention it to the miners who were coming and going; yet he felt that McNeil's heirs ought to have it, and he informed of his find; and so, as his supply of gunpowder for fuel was running short, he resolved to return to Perth with the gold. He loaded up McNeil's brumby with the pack saddle, and he carried the gold in a sack, and he carried the gold in a sack, and he carried the gold in a sack.

HUDSON'S BAY CO. PLANS ROAD TO NORTH OIL FIELDS

Edmonton, Jan. 26.—The Hudson's Bay company is actively and seriously looking into the proposal to build a light gauge railway across the portage from the Slave river to the Mackenzie at Fort Smith, according to Angus Innes, commissioner of the company, who is now in the city from his Winnipeg headquarters.

Mr. Innes says, however, that nothing will be done in the way of actual construction this year. Preliminary arrangements are already under way, and the work will be commenced in 1922 if things work out satisfactorily.

Developments in the northern oil country will have a good deal to do with the railroad progress, the commissioner points out. The company will wait until more is known of the future activities of the Imperial Oil and other interests in the Great Slave Lake and Fort Norman fields.

Major McMorris declared at Edmonton that of $400,000 which became payable to the department in the district of October last, $175,000 had already been paid by soldier settlers and it was anticipated that by spring the entire amount would have been received. Nearly fifty per cent of the amount due had already been paid, he explained, and 61 per cent of the settlers despite the poor conditions of their first year of farm operations, had paid in full on account.

The Alberta government has purchased a quantity of the prize winning potatoes at the Guelph winter fair for distribution amongst the demonstration farms of the province. The potatoes are of a new variety called the "Dorley." They are white, smooth and early, but they will have to stand a season or two of harsh weather before the department will be prepared to push them out for general use.

HIGH SCHOOL LIT. AND DEBATING SOC.

The second regular meeting of the Wetaskiwin High School Literary and Debating Society was held on Friday, Jan. 28th, 1921, in Grade IX A room. The meeting came to order with the singing of "O Canada."

Miss Kaulbach was appointed critic. The minutes were read and approved. Martin Langston was appointed chairman.

The program then took place, which was in the form of a debate between the members of Grade X and XI. The resolution was: "Resolved that a system of segregated high schools for boys and girls would be preferable to the present co-educational system of today."

Grade X upheld the affirmative. The members were: Aden Garlough, leader; Richard Chandler, Jean MacFarlane, while Grade IX upheld the negative, the members being: Gladys Asa, leader; Clarence Greider, Ross Kelley.

The subject was ably handled by both sides, and when concluded the judges, Mrs. Walker and Miss Almer, retired to make their decision. Meanwhile the high school paper was read. After much controversy the judges decided in favor of the negative.

The reading of the critic was then heard.

The meeting closed with "God Save the King."

New York, Jan. 27. The strength of Canadian exchange in this city continued today and business during the morning session was transacted at a discount as low as 94 per cent, compared with Wednesday's close of 11½ per cent. The early strength was not maintained, however, and before noon the discount on Canadian dollars rose to 10½ per cent.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Wetaskiwin Women's Institute met in the Alexandra school on Saturday, the 28th, at 2 p.m., when a large number of ladies were in attendance, who had the pleasure of listening to an interesting talk on Japan by Mrs. Alexander, a missionary of Tokyo, Japan, who is home on furlough. Her little daughters supplied instrumental music and sang the Japanese national anthem in the native language.

Mrs. M. O. Nelson read a carefully arranged paper on "Current Events."

The institute convention for District No. 3 will be held in Wetaskiwin on March 17 and 18, for which preparations will be made.

The business part of the meeting being over, tea was served, at the conclusion of which Mrs. Alexander offered for sale a quantity of Japanese travelling, the proceeds of which will be sent to help the famine sufferers in Japan.
